

Bhartiya City bags Best Futura Mega Project MIPIM Asia Award at Hong Kong

Bhartiya City, an integrated city spanning 125-acres near Hebbal in Bangalore, has won the MIPIM Asia Awards in its Best Futura Mega Project category in the Asia Pacific Region at Hong Kong, the first Indian firm to receive the award.

The developer won the award after defeating 13 countries - China, Singapore, South Korea, Hong Kong, Philippines, Japan, Malaysia, Indonesia, Thailand, Vietnam, Bahrain and Russia, which participated in the competition in various categories.

Talking about this achievement, Snehdeep Aggarwal, Founder-Chairman, Bhartiya Group said, "We are happy that Bhartiya City has been honoured with the prestigious MIPIM Asia Awards 2013. It is, indeed, a proud moment for us to receive this endorsement for the collective efforts of our team who have no doubt made an immense contribution to making Bhartiya City truly iconic and one of the finest real-estate projects in the Asian region, and our goal is to deliver a city which will be the best in India to live and work for."

The MIPIM Asia Awards jury was composed of an international panel of top real estate experts and chaired by Vincent H.S. Lo, Chairman of Shui On Group, Singapore.
